WELL, IT IS A 4-SEASON PLAYGROUND . . .

The weather has been mild but . . . it hasn't been warm enough to make the above sight, pleasant as it may be, common to city beaches in recent weeks. However, maybe Mrs. Dave Bell, a newcomer to Kelowna, was confused by the four-season playground advertising. She admitted the water was a bit chilly and said she would probably stick to the ski slopes for at least another few weeks.

Claim Against Marchand Handed To Labor Board

OTTAWA (CP)—An unsupported claim that Manpower Minister Marchand was involved in alleged interference with a union certification vote among CBC production workers in Montreal was placed before the Canada Labor Relations Board Monday.

The Canadian Union of Public Employees, which failed by only 17 votes to win a national majority in the CBC balloting Nov. 23-24, listed Mr. Marchand among a group of prominent persons said to have advocated a boycott that caused 239 spoiled ballots.

CUPE said the interference was organized by the Confederation of National Trade Unions in a bid to prevent a clear decision by the 1,684 employees in the bargaining unit.

However, none of the newspaper clippings or pamphlets filed as evidence with the board attributed boycott remarks to Mr. Marchand. The minister later issued a personal denial that he had ever taken such a stand.

The board hearing continues today.

Mr. Marchand was president of the CNUU before resigning to enter federal politics in 1965. He entered the cabinet in December of the same year following the Nov. 8 general election.

The certification vote resulted from a bid by CUPE to dislodge the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees, bargaining agent for the national group of CBC stage production workers. A vote was ordered by the board.

Viet Cong Agent To Die For Assassination In Saigon

SAIGON (Reuters)—A 20-year-old self-confessed Viet Cong agent was sentenced to death by a special military court here tonight for the murder last month of Tran Van Van, a leading member of South Vietnam's Constituent Assembly.

The five-man court ordered that the accused, Vo Van En, be executed by firing squad and his property confiscated.

His lawyer, Mrs. Nguyen Phuoc Dal, said she would appeal for clemency to the chief of state, Lt.-Gen. Nguyen Van Thieu.

Under Vietnamese military law, En will be executed within 48 hours if the petition is rejected.

Van, a southern-born politician, was an outspoken critic of the government of Premier Nguyen Cao Ky, which is dominated by northerners. His murder led to rumors and allegations of government involvement.

During the two-day trial, En admitted he drove a motor scooter from which an accomplice on the back seat fired into the assemblyman's car.

However, police investigators and Van's driver testified that En himself fired the fatal shots.

En, who is partially blind in one eye from a childhood deformity, was arrested minutes after the killing but his accomplice escaped.

At a press conference organized shortly afterwards by the national police, En admitted that he had been specially trained by the Viet Cong to take part in the assassination of Van.

Nasser Ordered Gas, Napalm In Yemen Attack Say Pilots

AMMAN, Jordan (AP)—Two Egyptian airmen claimed Monday night that President Nasser had ordered gas and napalm bombs dropped on towns in Yemen, Cairo called their story a "shameful lie."

The two men who appeared at a press conference in Amman, said they were Capt. Mohammed Abdul Mottu and Capt. Saeed Mohamed Ali. They said they were flying over Yemen last June and took refuge in Saudi Arabia, which has been supporting the royalist side in Yemen's civil war.

Faded said Soviet pilots as well as Egyptians were flying Egyptian bombers and fighters in attacks against royalist tribesmen.

Abdo said that before going on said, the airmen were told that Yemen was considered part of the United Arab Republic and "personal misconduct."

He said about 700 Egyptian troops are being killed or wounded daily in Yemen and the dead are being buried there.

He claimed that 26 Egyptian airmen have been lost in Yemen. Shortly after Amman broadcast an account of the press conference, the Egyptian government issued a statement saying the pair had been expelled from the air force last spring on Nasser's orders because of "personal misconduct."

TOOK PART IN RAIDS

Abdo said he had taken part in air raids on three Saudi Arabian towns, including Abha about 100 miles inside the kingdom.

He said about 700 Egyptian troops are being killed or wounded daily in Yemen and the dead are being buried there.

College Council Adopts Budget

A 1967 operating budget of $290,434 was approved by the Okanagan Regional College council Monday.

Secretary James Green said $51,200 in architect fees, which would normally be included under capital expenditure, were included in the operating budget.

He said the budget would be reduced "by that amount" if a referendum to provide capital expenditure for a college were approved at the later date.

Building committee chairman, A. D. Green told the council meeting his committee recommended architects for the college be instructed to "not go past the preliminary planning stages."

He said this represented 0.6 per cent of the overall cost.

Also approved by council were $33,211.30 for December expenditures.

However, no further details of the expenditures or the 1967 budget, which must be approved by the nine participating school districts, were released.

STAFF REPORT

Also not released were details of a report from a special executive committee on the "status and retention" of college staff.

College president Norman Walker had requested the council formulate policy to serve as an alternative to conditions of his own and associates' contracts which anticipated a 1967 start on a college.

A written report from James Lovick and Co., a Vancouver public relations and advertising firm which organized promotion leading to presentation of a referendum Dec. 10, was not read.

Publicity committee chairman John Bennett of Summerland said his committee had studied the report. He said also the committee was investigating the possibility of a college information officer.

Council chairman Frank Venables reiterated his remarks of the last meeting saying the council is "definitely striving towards a second referendum."

He said this would "probably be the most important item at the next meeting" but again no details were given.

PLEA FOR PETERSON

The arts councils of both Penicton and Vernon have asked Education Minister Peterson for "active consideration" in the establishment of an Okanagan Regional College.

President Father Francis Goddard of the Kelowna and District Arts Council said he received confirmation today that the councils of the other two cities had wired the education minister.

The move follows a similar telegram sent by the Kelowna council after a meeting of the executive committee last week.

A motion at the meeting asked that Mr. Peterson "give every active consideration to all possible means by which a college might be established in the Okanagan and that we also voice our strong support for the college."

Barrier 'Let Bus Through' Into Path Of Freight Train

DORION, Que. (CP)—Four witnesses agreed Monday that an automatic barrier at a C.N.R. level crossing rose Oct. 7, allowing a packed school bus to move into the path of an oncoming freight train.

They were testifying at the opening of a coroner's inquest into the crash, which claimed the lives of 19 students and a bus driver in this community 25 miles west of Montreal.

Mrs. Frances Hardy, 34, a Toronto housewife driving a school bus, said she saw three boys tampering with the barrier seconds before it went up.

Mrs. Beverly Finlay, 35, of Toronto, a passenger in Mrs. Hardy's car, testified she did not see anyone tampering with the signals.

Constable Gilbert Fontaine, 28, of Dorion police, walking along a sidewalk 60 feet behind the bus, said he saw the barrier rise, but saw no one fooling with it.

John C. Murgatroyd, an army officer from Camp Borden, Ont., driver of the third car behind the bus, said the barrier rose, the bus moved ahead and the barrier came down behind it.

19 DIED IN CRASH

Eighteen of 45 students in the bus en route to a dance died in the crash along with Marcel Fleury, 20, the bus driver. Another teen-age student died of injuries eight days later.

The four eyewitnesses were among the first of 54 persons scheduled to testify at the inquest, expected to last a week.

Mrs. Hardy first testified that she saw a young man lifting the barrier. She later modified this to say only that the barrier had been raised and at least one youth had his hands on it.

More Guns And Less Butter May Be LBJ's Theme Tonight

WASHINGTON (CP)—A year ago President Johnson told the U.S. Congress in the traditional State of the Union address: "I believe we can continue the Great Society while we fight in Vietnam."

Tonight, making his fourth union address, he will be speaking to a new, more conservative Congress believed ready to spread the butter more thinly at home while providing all the guns needed in Vietnam.

Just what the president plans to say and propose as legislation has been kept a well-guarded secret.

The State of the Union message will be heard in Canada over the CBC, which plans live radio coverage starting at 9:30 p.m. EST. CBC-TV also will present videotaped highlights of the speech from 10:30 p.m. to 11 p.m. EST.

Johnson's economic message, due a few days later, will fill in some of the gaps left tonight about the present and future shape of the economy.

But the betting is heavy that no general tax increase is likely because this might prod an already-slumping economy into a recession.

A new mood also is anticipated.

The 89th Congress of 1965 and 1966 gave the president just about everything he seriously sought, with some exceptions, that ranged from civil rights legislation to war finances and anti-poverty funds.

Opposition Gains A Point And Goes After Some More

OTTAWA (CP)—Opposition MPs, after obtaining one quick concession on the government's mammoth transportation bill, return to the debate today with demands for more changes.

The bill sets out a national transportation policy and provides for creation of a single, powerful regulating agency over land, sea and air transportation falling under federal jurisdiction.

Transport Minister Pickersley met demands for changes in the wording of the bill's first clause—which sets out its principle—by amending the phrase "economic and efficient transportation system" to read "economic, adequate and efficient."

The Commons gave unanimous approval to the amendment, then deferred further study of the clause so MPs may move deeper into the bill today. The new wording reads in part:

"It is hereby declared that an economic, efficient and adequate transportation system making the best use of all available modes of transportation at the lowest total cost is essential to protect the interests of the users of transportation and to maintain the economic well-being and growth of Canada."

"And that these objectives are most likely to be achieved when all modes of transportation are able to compete . . ."

Anti-Mao Group Hits Out Again In China's Crisis

HONG KONG (CP)—Chinese from Canton reported today that wall posters attacking Communist Party Chairman Mao Tse-tung had gone up throughout that south China city and that Canton radio had broadcast alerts to his supporters to be ready to come to his defence.

Some arrivals said they had seen dozens of anti-Mao posters Monday and early today before taking the afternoon train to the border and crossing into Hong Kong. Others claimed there were hundreds of such posters.

They said radio appeals directed Mao's followers to stand ready to "crush the enemies of our great leader."

There was no way to verify the reports, but most of the travellers told essentially the same stories.

They said the posters and counter appeals followed a week-end of bloody fighting between pro-Mao Red Guards and anti-Mao factory workers in which they said several persons were killed, scores hurt, a Canton hospital lobby smashed and doctors and nurses beaten up.

Thousands of workers stayed away from their jobs in factories and municipal gas, water and electric plants Monday. Radio broadcasts repeated appeals for workers to return to their jobs.

A middle-aged Chinese said he saw several bodies lying on the streets.

"I think they were all dead. They had been badly beaten about the head and there was blood all around."

"About 20, maybe more, were hurt when Red Guards fought with clubs. They were taken to the Canton hospital. When the hospital refused to turn over the injured workers, Red Guards smashed windows, broke down the door, and wrecked the entrance room."

A 42-year-old woman said she saw hundreds of anti-Mao youths attack a group of Red Guards—"They had iron pipes and they were swinging them with all their strength. They were shouting that they were sick of Red Guards and sick of Mao's thought."

A still-terrified older woman, her hands shaking, said: "Human blood was all over the streets. They were fighting with clubs and bamboo poles. Many were bleeding and some were badly hurt."

Opponents of Mao in Shanghai, China's chief port, were accused today of resorting to economic warfare in an effort to disrupt China's production and finances.

Chanting Mob Assails 'Foes'

PEKING (Reuters)—A thousand-strong crowd chanting slogans gathered outside the official residence of Head of State Liu Shao-chi as the city seethed today with demonstrations against opponents of Mao Tse-tung, Communist party chairman.

Demonstrators throughout the morning streamed into a 100,000-seat stadium in Peking's northeastern suburbs for a mass rally which Red Guards posters said was called to "struggle against" Tao Chu, party propaganda chief.

Thousands of people thronged through the capital's main shopping street, Wang Fu Ching, and into the vast Tiananmen Square where posters denounced Liu, Tao Chu and Teng Hsiao-ping, party secretary-general.

Dozens of Red Guard loudspeaker trucks coursed through the streets pouring out invective against the alleged anti-Maoists.

CROWD DRIVEN OFF

The crowd outside Liu Shao-chi's residence shouted slogans of "extensive democracy" for about an hour before security guards drove them off.

Premier Chou En-lai again was attacked in more detailed accusations in posters put up today on the northern side of Tiananmen Square by a "revolutionary rebel detachment in the field of finance and trade."

Americans Can Visit Cuba 'If Passports Valid'-Court

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. Supreme Court ruled unanimously today that an American citizen who holds a generally valid passport cannot be criminally prosecuted for travelling to Cuba without government authorization.

At the same time the court upheld the government's right to declare certain foreign countries out of bounds.

But travel to these countries without specific authorization may not lead to criminal prosecution, Justice Abe Fortas said for the high court.

The ruling in two Cuba travel cases overturned the government's claim that Congress had made it a crime to travel to Cuba without authorization.

Fortas said the decision "rests entirely upon our construction of the relevant statutes and regulations."

"In short," the justice wrote "the relevant state department promulgations are not only devoid of a suggestion that travel to Cuba without a specifically validated passport is prohibited, or that such travel would be criminal conduct, but they also contain positive suggestions that the purpose and effect of the restriction were merely to make clear that the passport was not to be regarded by the traveller in Cuba as a voucher on the protective service normally afforded by the U.S. state department."

Last May the court ruled 6 to 3 that the state secretary may refuse to grant passports to American citizens for travel to Cuba. At that time the court left open the question whether it is a crime to violate the travel restrictions.

That was the question decided today.

In one case, Mrs. Helen Maxine Levi Travis of Los Angeles was convicted under a section of the Immigration and Nationality Act of 1952, fined $1,000 and given two suspended six-month sentences.

U Thant Contradicts U.S. 'Vietnam War Not Vital'

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—United Nations Secretary-General U Thant took sharp issue today with U.S. contentions that Vietnam is strategically vital to Western security and that a Communist victory in Vietnam would threaten other countries of Southeast Asia.

The secretary-general also challenged the U.S. position that the National Liberation Front Viet Cong guerrillas in South Vietnam is "a stooge" of North Vietnam. He previously had acknowledged differences with the United States, but this was the first time he had given his views in detail.

Thant, speaking at a press conference, continued to express hope that a negotiated settlement of the Vietnam war might be reached if the U.S. would take the initiative by halting the bombing of North Vietnam. He disagreed with those, however, who see a shift of Hanoi's position in recent statements by North Vietnamese Premier Pham Van Dong and North Vietnam's Paris representative, Mai Van Bo.

The latest statements, he said, "are just a re-statement of their well-known views."

U THANT
... U.S. WRONG
On the question of the U.S. bombings, Thant said: "There will be no peace so long as the bombing is going on."

GEORGE HEES
... leadership aim

Dr. Alan Davidson, provincial deputy mental health minister, announced Monday in Victoria he will leave his post within three months to become the federal government's top civil servant in the mental health field.

Narcotics police today claimed their biggest catch since the Second World War with the arrest in Paris of Paul Mondoloni, a 50-year-old Corsican. They said he is suspected of being a principal supplier of heroin to the United States via Mexico, Jamaica and Canada.

Karl Kroeyer, Danish industrialist and inventor, announced Monday he has developed a new method of making paper which practically eliminates the use of water and which he claims could cut manufacturing costs by 40 per cent. About 100 tons of water are normally used to produce one ton of paper. Under Kroeyer's system, water is replaced by air and static electricity. Kroeyer said it now is possible to make paper "in the middle of the Sahara Desert."

Dr. G. B. Langford, former director of the University of Toronto Great Lakes Institute, said Monday night the greatest pollution problem facing the Great Lakes is dissolved salts present in such products as detergents and fertilizers. Dr. Langford said the problem will continue to increase despite an expected reduction in the dumping of raw sewage into the lakes.

Vote On Adam Clayton Powell Scheduled In Congress Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House of Representatives is expected to vote by nightfall on whether Representative Adam Clayton Powell retains his seat in Congress.

Fellow Democrats ousted him Monday as chairman of the House Education and Labor Committee, an action which triggered this exclamation from the veteran Harlem Congressman: "Jesus had only one Judas; I had about 120!"

Only hours earlier, he had been confidently telling friends: "Keep the faith, baby!" Monday's action seemed to add momentum to the drive by

BLAME RACISM

Powell and many Negro leaders said racism was behind the attacks on him.

"A lynching, northern style," was what Powell called the vote which booted him from the chairmanship.

"We're going to burn this country down—the Mau Mau's going to run this country," shouted a Negro, identified as Charles X. of New York, during a Capitol demonstration for Powell.

Those opposing the Negro representative cite Powell's court troubles in New York—where he is subject to arrest—and a House committee's accusation of deception in his handling of committee travel funds.

During the roll call for swearing in today, Representative Lionel Van Deerlin (Dem., Calif.) is to object to Powell's seating. This would require Powell to stand aside until all other members are sworn in.

House Democratic leaders then plan to move that Powell be seated under certain conditions, including possibly an investigation. This would be the key vote.

If the motion loses, then either House Republican leaders or Van Deerlin—depending who is recognized by Speaker John W. McCormack, who opposed the anti-Powell moves, would move that Powell be investigated and barred from his seat in the meantime.

Hang Sukarno, Students Shout

JAKARTA (Reuters) — Thousands of angry students howled "hang Sukarno" today a few hours before the Indonesian president was due to address the nation on his past policies.

At a mass rally in the grounds of Jakarta University, some 4,000 students chanted: "Hang him! Hang him!"

Student leaders demanded the president be brought to trial for complicity in a 1965 Communist coup attempt.

Sukarno is scheduled to make a radio speech tonight explaining the policies which led to the Communist uprising and the bloodbath that subsequently racked Indonesia, a palace announcement said.

TRAFFIC FROZE, TEMPER BOILED WHEN IRISH FARMERS' PROTEST

DUBLIN (AP)—Traffic froze and tempers boiled in Ireland Monday when thousands of angry farmers blocked roads and bridges in a nationwide demonstration for higher government grants and subsidies.

The farmers claimed a major success in the one-day demonstration and threatened more to come unless their demands are met.

The National Farmers Association says its 80,000 members have been hit by a combination of bad weather and a recession in Britain where more than 90 per cent of Ireland's farm exports go.

To back their demands for higher price supports, an estimated 30,000 farmers pulled an assortment of tractors, trucks, trailers and carts onto roads and blocked key positions on every major highway and most bridges.

Hundreds of cars piled up on both sides of the blockades. Police had to break up clashes between farmers and irate commuters. The entire provincial bus system broke down in chaos.

Cork, Ireland's second city, was thrown into one vast traffic jam by farm tractors crawling down main streets. The entire west of Ireland was isolated by blockades on bridges over the Shannon River. On the east coast another bridge blockade cut traffic on the busy Waterford-Dublin highway.

Canadian-Born Princess Weds To Commoner In The Hague

THE HAGUE (CP) — Queen Juliana of The Netherlands and Prince Bernhard today saw the third of their four daughters, 24-year-old Princess Margriet, marry a Dutch commoner.

Although the wedding was not a political issue as in the case of Margriet's two older sisters, it was marred by the throwing of smoke bombs by youths as the young couple was returning from the church.

Controversy and incidents also accompanied the 1964 wedding of Princess Irene to a Spanish prince and the 1966 wedding of Princess Beatrix to German diplomat Claus von Amsberg.

Margriet's husband is 27-year-old Pieter Van Vollenhoven who courted and won her at Leyden University while both were students there. The Royal Gazette announced that he had been made a member of the Royal House, but he was not given a title and remains Mr. Vollenhoven.

Street crowds were smaller than expected, probably due to freezing temperatures. The two ceremonies—a civic wedding at the town hall and a Protestant blessing at the 13th-century St. Jacobskerk St. James' Church—were followed by a procession and a 14-mile bridal procession with broadcast over television and radio.

Schoolchildren were on holiday but work continued normally since the day was not proclaimed a national holiday.

Margriet's white silk bridal gown had marguerite flower patterns after her name. Her bridegroom wore a military uniform.

Among those in the huge church was a sprinkling of European royalty including Britain's Princess Alice, Danish Crown Princess Margarethe and her French diplomat fiancé Count Henri de Laborde de Monpezat, Princess Christina of Peachland Chamber Possible?

PEACHLAND — Brochures were distributed to all participating businesses at a recent meeting of the Peachland brochures committee.

Chairman Ernie Beet reported that all donations have not yet been received but there was enough money in to cover costs at present. H. Lyon reported he has not yet completed the maps as yet but hopes to have them by the next meeting.

Any participating businesses can get their allotment of brochures from Mr. Lyon and the general public may buy small quantities at the Municipal Office. Next meeting of the group to finally wind up this committee will be held at 8 p.m. in the Municipal Hall Feb. 2. At this meeting discussion will be held on the possibility of forming a chamber of commerce group.

RCE Band Plays Here

WINFIELD — At a recent meeting of the Okanagan Valley Symphony Orchestra it was announced that the Royal Canadian Engineers' Band will be giving a concert in the auditorium of George Elliot Secondary School on Jan. 17, at 8 p.m.

The famous band will be under the leadership of Capt. Leonard Camplin, who also directs the Okanagan Valley Symphony Orchestra. The concert will be for the benefit of the Valley Symphony Orchestra.

Local people who play in the symphony orchestra are: Miss Sigrid-Anne Thors, cello and Miss Mary Ramsey, flute of Winfield and Felix De Wolk and Bernard De Wolk of Okanagan Centre.

The sponsors are hoping for a good turn out.

Rutland Plant In Full Swing

RUTLAND — The Rutland branch of the Kelowna Growers Exchange has resumed packing operations with a full crew.

It is expected that the plant will be in operation for about two months before completing the packing of the apples from regular storage.

Following this there will be a further period of about a month required to pack the apples out of controlled atmosphere storage.

Whether this will be immediately after the apples from ordinary storage are packed or at a later date will depend on market conditions, the management states.

Newcomers to the community are Mr. and Mrs. J. Slivinsky who have bought the Pentland house on Beach Avenue. The Slivinskys moved here from Kelowna where they had resided since last summer. Mr. Slivinsky is employed at Brenda Mines.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Smith received word recently that their daughter, Margy who has been living this past year in Bermuda, has a new job and has moved to Nassau in the Bahamas.

Installation of the 1967 executive of the Peachland United Church Women will take place Wednesday at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. W. D. Miller on Beach Avenue. A general meeting will follow the ceremonies, and all guests are welcome.

Home again is Mrs. G. Falowfield after spending the holidays visiting her son and daughter-in-law Mr. and Mrs. R. Falowfield and her daughter and husband Mr. and Mrs. L. Svekla in Edmonton.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Walker are home again after spending two weeks at the Coast.

At Thursday's meeting of Peachland's Teen Town the group voted to donate $75 to the Peachland Recreation Commission. The money will be used for new tables in the newly renovated Baptist Church. Reports were given on the activities held to raise money for the March of Dimes.

A total of $66 was collected by the group through bottle drives, carolling and a raffle. The meeting decided to donate $34 more from general funds to make this up to $100. Tentative plans were made to hold a Teen Town Sweetheart contest in February. More information will be available later.

FILLS POST VANCOUVER (CP) — Orville Braaten, 48, Monday was elected president of the Canadian Pulp and Paper Workers Union of Canada. He replaced Lloyd D. Craig who died in November. Braaten will continue as business agent for the union's Vancouver local.

Light Contest Winners Picked

WINFIELD — Albert Vecchio chairman of the Christmas light-up committee of the Winfield, Oyama and Okanagan Centre Chamber of Commerce announced that the winners of the contest were as follows:

Most effective lighting: Henry Reed, 300, Woodside Road, Winfield. Most original lighting: James Bach, Brun Road, Winfield. Best garden scene: J. A. Nagel, Pretty Road, Winfield. Best Santa Claus scene: E. Maki, Carr's Landing. Something special: J. Davidson, Okanagan Centre Road, Winfield.

Honorable mentions: Mrs. A. Grant, John A. Green, Del Reiswig, Norm Dion, Akio Menzie, W. Wharton, Brian Wright, Bud Dix, Joe Schaumleffel, Jim Elliott.

All prizes will be presented at the annual banquet and dance of this chamber to be held in the Oyama Community Hall Friday, Jan. 27.

Mr. Hume said his report said "the G. E. P. Jones case," but the premier had referred to "the Jones boy."

Gary Onkes, formerly with the Victoria Colonist and now with the Toronto Telegram, testified his report quoted the premier as saying: "I am not going to talk about the Jones boy, but I could."

Mr. Berger contended the statements were slanderous to Mr. Jones because the premier had previously not said publicly why the chairman was removed from office.

Mr. Berger said charges were laid against Mr. Jones Oct. 2, 1964, alleging he had accepted a benefit from a company dealing with the government. But Mr. Jones was later acquitted.

The premier introduced a bill into the legislature Feb. 26, 1965, which provided for the retirement and removal from office of Mr. Jones.

WILL CELEBRATE HERE OTTAWA (CP)—The wedding of Holland's Princess Margriet Jan. 10 will be marked by celebrations by Dutch groups across Canada, a statement from The Netherlands embassy says. The 23-year-old princess was born in Ottawa Civic Hospital, Greenwood, Ontario, Jan. 27, 1943.

She is a lawyer serving his conscription with the Royal Netherlands Air Force.

Big Apple Tree Era Drawing To Close

Dangerous Roads Draw Fire From Union Members

Winter road conditions in the Okanagan have been criticized by the Kelowna, Penticton, Vernon and District Labor Council. A resolution adopted by council membership stressed the potential danger of unplowed and unsanded highways during periods of snow and ice.

The resolution deplored the condition of roads throughout the province and will be forwarded to Highway Minister P. A. Gagliardi.

Clayton Walls of Kelowna said in 20 years of driving throughout the province "I have never seen road conditions as bad as they are this winter."

"It's time," he said, "that Mr. Gagliardi and the government had their conscience nudged so they may realize their responsibilities in many of the deaths which occur because of icy roads."

Frank Kushner of Oyma said "side roads must be looked after also" and expressed concern for school buses which must negotiate rural roads.

"I tell you, it scares me when I see a bus load of kids trying to make it down some of our icy hills and think of what the result might be if the driver lost control," he said.

Agricultural Conference Told Of Future Methods

The era of the big apple tree is drawing to an end and growers can soon donate their 12 to 16 foot ladders to an agricultural museum, agriculturists were told in Kelowna Tuesday.

More than 130 delegates to the 1967 agricultural outlook conference being held at the Capri Motor Hotel Tuesday and today were given a short-term outlook for Valley agriculture.

The idea that 1,000 boxes of apples per acre is enough production is "rapidly going out of fashion," delegates were told in the report.

"The only way to meet changing conditions is to have a high density orchard of 250 or more trees per acre. Orchard operations will be carried out by a moving platform or perhaps a six to 10 foot ladder.

There will be no change in pear production. The short-term report predicts a 10 per cent increase in 1967 above the 1966 crop of 39,000,000 pounds in the Okanagan.

Okanagan cherry trees are a long way from reaching their full size and full production potential, the long-term report says. Cherry production should increase substantially during the next 20 years and a marketing problem could develop.

The cherry crop could increase 50 per cent in 1967 above the 8,300,000-pound crop produced in 1965.

Peach production is expected to decline. The long-term report sees two possible paths for the peach industry: the development of a specialty peach suitable only for the fresh market, or the use of a type of peach suitable only for canning.

The Usual Seasonal Routine Winter Tires And Chains

Winter tires and chains are required when travelling on the Kelowna-Beaverdell Road, the department of highways in Kelowna said today. There is compact snow on the road.

At 8 a.m. today the department said there was three inches of new snow at Revelstoke and one inch on the Rogers Pass. From Banff gate to Calgary the road was bare.

The Allison Pass on the Hope-Princeton Highway had compact snow, some slippery sections and fog patches near Princeton.

Keremeos was mostly bare with some slippery sections. Highway 97, from Penticton to Vernon was mostly bare with some wet sections, otherwise in good condition.

In the Lumby area compact snow was reported and slippery sections. The Monashee Highway had some slush in addition to compact snow.

The Fraser Canyon was bare with some early morning fog patches reported. Motorists were advised to watch for rolling rock.

The Majesty Of Vast Outdoors Seen In Color Film This Week

Outdoor adventure comes indoors this week when the Kelowna Boys' Club presents three wildlife films.

The club is sponsoring the showing of wildlife adventure films at the Community Theatre Wednesday and Thursday.

Wednesday's shows are scheduled for 4 p.m. and 8 p.m. Thursday, there will be one show at 8 p.m.

The two-hour show has been filmed in color, edited and narrated by Gordon Eastman, a U.S. nature photographer.

The three films scheduled are: Adventure with Mule Deer, Trophy Fishing—The Far North and Innocent Adventure.

In Adventure with Mule Deer, the camera follows the deer hunt across the ice-choked Idaho Snake River Gorge in a rubber raft.

Great Bear Lodge in Canada's northland is the setting for Trophy Fishing. This, one of the last frontiers for trophy fishermen, is where 40 pound trout are ordinary catches.

Innocent Adventure films the story and drama of nature.

Variety Of Traffic Charges Bring Fines Ranging To $250

A Westbank man was convicted in magistrate's court today of an impaired driving charge and fined $250.

Donald Charles Richards had previously pleaded not guilty and the decision was reserved until today. He was prohibited from driving for six months.

Fraser Blackmore, Kamloops, reserved plea on a charge of failing to remain at the scene of an accident and the case was remanded to Jan. 18.

Two men pleaded guilty to charges of failing to yield the right-of-way and were each fined $75. Douglas Phillips, 2207 Richter St., was involved in an accident at Harvey Avenue and Richter Street Jan. 7 at 3:10 a.m. John Anthony Green, Okanagan Centre, was involved in an accident Dec. 30 at 3:45 p.m. on Highway 97 near Birch Road.

John Bruce Ross, 308 Cadder Ave., was fined $35 when he pleaded guilty to a speeding charge. The prosecutor said police clocked him doing 50 m.p.h. in a 30 m.p.h. zone on Highway 97 at 11:45 p.m., Jan. 6.

Donald L. Gordon, Paret Road and Alvin G. Nickel, Vernon, pleaded guilty to charges of backing when unsafe to do so, and were each fined $25. The prosecutor said Gordon collided with a car when he backed from a parking space on Bernard Avenue, Dec. 24 at 11:45 p.m. and Nickel backed into a parked car on a Harvey Avenue service station lot, Dec. 17.

Roy Noah Yampolsky, of a district trailer court, was fined $75 when he pleaded guilty to a charge of changing lanes when unsafe to do so. He was involved in an accident Dec. 12 on Highway 97 north in Kelowna, involving a tractor-trailer unit.

Daphne MacLean-Angus, 2265 Pandosy St., pleaded not guilty to a charge of failing to yield the right-of-way and the case was remanded to Jan. 25 for trial.

No Vegetable Expansion Expected By Valley Official

There will be no major expansion of the vegetable industry in the South Okanagan, according to a long-term agricultural development forecast presented in Kelowna Tuesday.

District Horticulturist M. P. D. Trumppour presented the long-term prediction report to more than 130 delegates attending the 1967 agricultural outlook conference in Kelowna.

The relatively small size of most vegetable holdings makes them unsuitable for large-scale mechanization. At the same time, steep labor is becoming increasingly difficult to obtain.

Mr. Trumppour said.

The horticulturist also forecast a greater demand for vegetables, based on the expected population increase.

LOCAL CONSUMPTION

"But apart from production of tomatoes and possibly asparagus for the canning industry, all other vegetable production will be geared only for local sales."

Mr. Trumppour predicted a 30 per cent increase in forced crops, such as greenhouse cucumbers and tomatoes.

Another vegetable report, presented later in the day, said

1966 asparagus prices were up 23 per cent and a substantial increase in the crop is warranted.

New plantings will increase the crop but not at the rate the market will absorb the product, the report said.

In the North Okanagan, major increases were predicted in warm season crops, including tomatoes, sweet corn, peppers, vines and asparagus.

The North Okanagan projections, compiled by M. G. Cowell, district horticulturist, and C. D. Johnson, dairy inspector, Kelowna, and presented to the conference by Jim Ryder, Vernon, are based on the assumption there will be no large irrigation projects on land suited to vegetable production.

With further large scale irrigation projects, an estimated 20,000 acres would be suited to vegetable production.

The report says many young plantings will come into production in the Oliver-Osoyoos area for the first time this year and other areas will also have new acreage begin to produce.

The 1966 Canadian crop, with B.C. and Ontario the two main producing areas, totalled 112,000,000 pounds compared with 126,000,000 pounds in 1965.

Okanagan Grape Production Could Show 50 Per Cent Boost

Grape production in the Okanagan this year is expected to increase by 50 per cent from 1966.

Grape production was estimated at 9,000,000 pounds this year in a report presented Monday to the 136 delegates attending the 1967 agricultural outlook conference in Kelowna.

The report says many young plantings will come into production in the Oliver-Osoyoos area for the first time this year and other areas will also have new acreage begin to produce.

The 1966 Canadian crop, with B.C. and Ontario the two main producing areas, totalled 112,000,000 pounds compared with 126,000,000 pounds in 1965.

TO PROCESSORS

The 1966 B.C. crop is estimated at slightly more than 6,000,000 pounds.

The fresh market received 700,000 pounds of this total; the remainder of the crop went to processors.

The quality of grapes for wine, as measured by soluble solids, was below the average at the Summerland research centre. In other areas, quality was considered satisfactory but 1966 was not a vintage year.

Oliver-Osoyoos has now passed the Kelowna area for total grape acreage. Oliver-Osoyoos now has 658 acres planted, compared with 632 in Kelowna.

Earlier in the day, M. P. D. Trumppour, district horticulturist, told the conference there are 1,000 acres of grapes now under cultivation in the Okanagan.

In a long-term prediction of agricultural development in the Valley, Mr. Trumppour said some growers claim another 2,500 acres of grapes could be handled in the Valley.

Mr. Trumppour refrained from making any prediction about the future of the grape industry here.

A three-car pile-up at Harvey Avenue and Pandosy Street at 8:15 p.m. Monday, resulted in aggregate damages estimated at more than $900.

Drivers involved in the chain reaction rear-end collision were Wesley Robert Slenke, Rutland and Donald Carl Spencer, Kelowna. A third man was later arrested and charged with failing to remain at the scene of an accident.

A two-car collision at 7:05 p.m. at Harvey Avenue and Ethel Street was reported to police at 11:30 p.m. Drivers were Donald Whiting, Kelowna and Gene Welsh, Rutland. Damage was estimated at more than $100. There were no injuries.

Final Tax Figure Higher Than 1965

Final 1966 figures for City of Kelowna tax prepayments show city ratepayers continued their outstanding record of payment.

Percentage of current taxes paid, as of Dec. 31, was 99.23 per cent, compared with 99.26 per cent on the same date in 1965.

The $2,082,337 paid during the year was $345,633.45 more than those taxes paid the previous year.

EXAMINING THE AGRICULTURAL FUTURE

Farmers, growers, businessmen connected with agriculture and horticulture officials concentrate their attention on one of the speakers conducting sessions at the 1967 agricultural outlook conference in Kelowna. The two-day meeting, which started Monday, attracted more than 130 delegates from the North and South Okanagan, Kamloops and the Kootenays. This is the second year the outlook conferences have been held in

B.C. The meeting's main purpose is to forecast agricultural development in coming years.

Parking Problems Still Irk Council

Downtown parking problems and future parking planning continue to cause concern for the Kelowna city council.

Council members were told Monday night many paid parking spots are still available in the central downtown area, but merchants and their staffs continue to cause a problem by moving their cars each hour to other main street parking spots.

Ald. W. T. L. Roadhouse, the council's member of the traffic control advisory committee, told the council there were 232 parking spots, but only 184 were rented.

He said merchants and their staffs were still the biggest downtown hourly parking space offenders and he indicated unless they changed their ways there would never be more parking for prospective customers of their shops.

He said the traffic committee was continuing to work for solutions to the problem and progress was being made.

He suggested letters be sent to the Kelowna Chamber of Commerce and the Retail Merchants' Association, suggesting both groups work more closely with the city to help ease the tight parking situation. The suggestion was unanimously supported by the council.

Ald. Roadhouse also suggested that names of repeated downtown offenders be published.

In the past the council has heard suggestions that parking fines be increased for repeated offenders.

Ald. D. A. Chapman pointed out there are still free two-hour parking stalls available at the Memorial Arena parking lot.

Special Parking Attention Given By Traffic Officers

Special attention was given Bernard Avenue during December, in an effort to keep all vehicles moving after the allotted time of parking. Kelowna's traffic officer said in his monthly report.

Christmas shoppers were given extra parking time, but few took advantage of it, Kenneth Preston, senior traffic officer said, "outstanding violations" were given tickets between Dec. 22 to 24. Fewer cars were given chalk marks when snow covered city streets.

A total of 448 tickets were handed out during December, 236 of them for over-parking and 65 for illegal parking.

Others included 54 warning tickets and 23 courtesy tickets. There were two tickets for jaywalking and eight for failure to display municipal licence plates.

There were six court convictions for traffic offences and two for other bylaws.

During December the RCMP received and investigated 220 complaints. Seven street lights were found unlighted, five business places found unlocked and three fires attended. There were 13 liquor cases during the month and the situation was termed satisfactory.

Nine animals were lost and six found. A total of 15 bicycles were reported stolen and 16 recovered. The cost of prisoners' expenses and meals amounted to $215.

Police travelled 4,665 miles in carrying out their duties. A total of $5,044 was collected in fines and turned over to the city. Costs amounted to $34. The sum of $165 was collected in court fines imposed under municipal bylaws.

COUNCIL AT WORK

Vandalism Throughout City Must Be Curbed, Say Aldermen

The high cost of vandalism is bothering the Kelowna city council. Out of proportion replacement costs for light bulbs, damage to City Park equipment and signs throughout the city must be brought into line the city council agreed at its meeting Monday night, Mayor R. F. Parkinson suggested parents do more policing of youngsters. Regarding the replacement of light bulbs, Ald. J. W. Bedford said taxpayers should realize it is their money at which children are throwing rocks.

W. R. Bennett, representing the Kelowna Chamber of Commerce as one of his last official acts before stepping down as chamber president, Friday, thanked the city for the amount of involvement allowed the chamber in city affairs. Mayor Parkinson commented on the chamber's expansion in the past four years and noted it was now second to only Vancouver in membership size.

Council members discovered an unusual situation when they examined their agendas. For the first time in at least 10 years there was no unfinished business and no correspondence.

The lack of business allowed the council to conduct its regular affairs in just over an hour.

A bid of $10,800 was accepted from Superior Maintenance for janitorial duties at the city hall. The contract was let two years ago at the same annual rate. A total of six bids were received, ranging to a high of $12,970.

Richard Doljahn of 1329 Bertman St. complained his taxes were too high on his three city lots and he was told he could appeal his assessment at the court of revision.

April 26 was set as the date for the first sitting of the irrigation court of revision.

J. P. Burbridge was appointed city poundkeeper for 1967 and his assistant will be S. A. Chaplin. Mr. Burbridge was also appointed the mosquito control officer, for the area within a five mile radius of the Kelowna Post Office.

Seven people were appointed to the sports and fitness advisory council: Ald. R. J. Wilkinson, R. J. Brook, J. C. Hatch, H. D. Langham, J. P. Mansfield, R. H. Tostenon and H. D. Turkington.

Council members were reminded of the annual meeting and installation of officers of the Kelowna Chamber of Commerce, at 6 p.m. Friday in the Aquatic building.

Final reading was given six bylaws, dealing with advance payment of 1967 taxes, the dedication of a section of Richter Street property as a lane, the authorization of a 20 m.p.h. speed limit on Birch Road, the issuance of a special use certificate to Mrs. Mildred Waldron of 1461 Richmond St. to operate a kindergarten and the exemption from taxation of the fire station.

There was no civic or merchant holiday planned for Wednesday in Kelowna.

4-H Girls To Toboggan

Mrs. R. S. Alexander met with members of the Kelowna 4-H Home Arts Club Saturday to give the girls advice about public speaking.

Nine members have already practiced public speaking and demonstrated. They are: Mary Ann McFarlane, Mary Ann Lee, Ann Miller, Karen Tucker, Lynda Tucker, Elaine Gordon, Glenda Kinney, Denise Wickham and Wendy Smallwood.

During the meeting, the first of the new year, the girls planned a toboggan party for Jan. 14.

Sunny . . . ?

The possibility of sunshine peeping briefly through clouds Wednesday has been posed by the weatherman.

However, he was predicting only a few sunny periods, with little change in temperature and light winds.

Low forecast tonight and high Wednesday was 35 and 40.

Monday temperatures dropped from a high of 40 to 33 over night; slightly warmer than on the same day last year when a high of 34 and low of 29 were recorded.

Bird Viewers Day Successful

Two trumpeter swans, eight western bluebirds and a snowy owl were among 58 species of birds witnessed by members of the Central Okanagan Naturalist Club Saturday.

The club held its annual bird count in Kelowna and district and although the day was cool and windy a spokesman said about 5,000 birds were witnessed.

Bert Chichester said the figure was down from the last bird count because of the weather conditions. He said large flocks of waxwings and many crows on the lake "easily bring the number up to the 5,000 mark."

He said the swans, bluebirds and the owl were the most rare sightings made by the club, although each species had been reported earlier this year.

About a dozen members, including two from the Vernon Club turned out for the count.

Rutland Man Is Recovering

A 53-year-old Rutland man is recovering in the Vernon Jubilee Hospital today following a single car accident about 8 a.m. Monday, four miles south of Vernon on Highway 97.

Fred Mandzuk, Gertsmar Road, Rutland, a teacher at the Beau to Elementary School in Vernon, was on his way to class when he lost control of his car on a curve and it ploughed into a 50-foot embankment.

Mr. Mandzuk suffered a broken cheek bone and face cuts. His wife said his condition was good Monday night, although doctors said he would suffer more pain today.

Police said Mr. Mandzuk rode the car all the way down the embankment until it came to rest about 75 feet short of a railway track.

Along in the car, the driver walked part way up the slope until rescuers were able to aid him with a 200-foot rope.

Extra Day Off For Students

Students and teachers of School District 23 (Kelowna) will have an extra "long weekend" this year.

Education Minister Peterson has proclaimed Feb. 17 a school holiday in B.C. "to commemorate the work of all the Fathers of Confederation."

He said Feb. 17 was selected because it was the half-way point between the normal Christmas and Easter holidays. His announcement follows a federal cabinet decision last Thursday to recognize Jan. 11 as Sir John A. Macdonald Day.

However, the decision apparently came too late for most of Canada to observe Wednesday as a holiday and Mr. Peterson said the February date will serve to include recognition of Canada's first prime minister.

The education minister said he sent a request to all school districts asking principals to honor the first prime minister "in some form of special exercise" Wednesday.

There was no civic or merchant holiday planned for Wednesday in Kelowna.

FIXTURE SMOKING

The Kelowna Fire Brigade answered a call at 4:50 p.m. Monday to 536 Bernard Ave. where an over-heated electrical fixture was smoking. There was no fire or damage, a fireman said.

Olive Pits, Toothpicks — Oh! What To Do!

The world is full of problems, some international and each of us has his personal ones. However, during the past three weeks many of us have experienced the same problem and for most of us, surely, it remains unsolved. It has been the season of the cocktail party and it is a perilous season for all those who are exposed to it.

To which the prohibition advocates will nod in solemn agreement and say amen.

But not all the victims of the season become alcoholics. Some of them, indeed, don't even drink hard liquor. But they suffer, just like the rest of us.

You think this an exaggeration? Have you ever seen a teetotaler at a cocktail party with a glass of ginger ale in one hand and an old olive pit in the other? Have you ever watched the forlorn manner in which he wanders from point to point trying to get rid of this bit of debris from the hors d'oeuvres?

His frustration in this respect is matched only by the bewilderment of his non-olive-eating fellow guest who finds this olive pit in the side pocket of his jacket when he gets home that evening.

There is no honor among the furtive disposers of olive pits at cocktail parties. They would slip them into the petit point handbags of their own grandmothers.

Their closest ally is that other crafty breed, the toothpick-hiders. Almost everything in the food line at a cocktail party is mounted on a toothpick. Standing there talking to one of the distinguished visitors, you see the deep-fried pawns go by and, before you realize what you are doing, you reach out and seize one of the tasty little critters by its toothpick handle.

All well and good; delicious, in fact. But now, after devouring the prawn you find yourself standing there discussing the regional college situation while holding an empty toothpick in one hand and a scotch and water in the other.

The scotch and water you can deal with and still follow the thread or theme of your discourse. But it would take a Norman Walker himself to stick strictly to the college situation while standing there holding an empty tooth-pick which his audience is watching carefully.

The longer you hold it, the more narrowly and closely it is observed by one and all. And the more closely you are being watched, the more devilishly difficult it is to get rid of the thing.

To just throw it on the floor would mark you as an untidy boor. And to sneakily slip it into your pocket would brand you as a craven coward. So you just stand there, holding it. You do, that is, unless you have the superb dash and aplomb required to stick it behind your ear and stroll off as though nothing unusual had happened.

As is the case with olive pits, the only easy way out is to slip it into the pocket of some unsuspecting fellow guest.

It may be said that such foul tactics are stooped to only by heavy-drinking cocktail party hounds. But such, alas, is not the case. The more sober you are the more likely you are to resort to stealth and trickery to get rid of the jetsam.

Actually, the non-drinkers at a cocktail party are, as a whole less moral than the drinkers. Take the matter of ordinary deceit. The drinker unconsciously doesn't listen to you when you're talking to him. But the teetotaler makes a deliberate effort not to hear what you're saying.

No one ever listens to any one at a cocktail party, of course. But it does seem as though the tipsy guest neglects to listen in a more honest fashion than does his sober companion.

Another regretful trait of the non-drinking cocktail party guest is that he's inclined to remember it if you say something nasty to him that does reach his ears before he turns down his hearing aid. Drinking denizens hardly ever remember anything, good or bad. And if they do vaguely recollect that they were insulted, they are not inclined to bear any grudges because they're not sure they haven't insulted someone themselves.

So, dear reader, if you find some way of disposing of olive pits and toothpicks at a cocktail party, please let us know. Otherwise the olive pit and the toothpick we end up with in our pocket may be our own.

"TO THE DECADE AHEAD!"

Seaweed, Straw Good for Spuds

LONDON (CP)—Seaweed and old straw helped a British gardener turn six potatoes into a half-ton of spuds, making him the world champion.

"I started competing as a joke," said John Cooke. "Then I became really interested and won the championship five times."

Last year he planted six Irish white potatoes and from them produced a record crop of 1,007 pounds, seven ounces. The results astounded his competitors and produced a record flow of correspondence in Cooke's Sussex bungalow. How did he do it?

Cooke, a 59-year-old farm foreman who makes gardening his hobby, confessed it was a matter of cunning and coaxing — plus a sensitive knowledge of fertilizer and soil.

All winter the six potatoes he put to seed were coddled in his home in a frost-free room. Each week they were soaked for one hour in a special seaweed solution.

Then came spring and planting time. But this was no ordinary planting. Visitors to the Cooke home found huge bales of old wet straw stacked in the backyard.

COVERED IN STRAW

"I built the soil up and dug the ground deep. I plant the roots seven feet apart in a trench 50 feet long and six feet wide. Then I start planting the old wet straw around them."

The roots were planted at least three inches below ground. Huge quantities of straw and seaweed, "plus plenty of water up to July," do their work.

"I use a complete fertilizer—10-10-18—plus seaweed manure at eight ounces per square yard," Cooke said in a telephone interview. "I mix all this in the soil at the time of planting."

"When the leaves are up, I spray weekly, using a 1-15 liquid seaweed dilution. This is of great value to keep the manures working and provide trace elements which are vital to all plant life."

Cooke's crops are amazing. Some of the potatoes weigh three pounds each "and they're good eating."

PROFIT UNLIKELY

But Cooke suggests his victory has little commercial prospect. As first-prize winner, he gets £35 from Britain's weekly garden newspaper, Garden News, and lots of attention.

"But I don't think there would be much profit in trying this commercially. I don't think it could be done without losing money."

A spokesman at the Garden News, published in Lincolnshire, said the potato competition has become so specialized that few gardeners feel capable of competing against Cooke and some of his closest contestants.

In fact there were only three entries last year.

"We've never had any entries from overseas," the spokesman added, "but, since the event is so well publicized, we feel that since there are no challengers, the winner is truly the world champion."

Miss World Stirs Mother India Up

BOMBAY (CP)—A 23-year-old Roman Catholic girl has become a major election issue in India.

She is Reita Faria, a Bombay medical student who was recently crowned Miss World at an international beauty contest in London.

Slogans attacking her and some in her favor have been plastered on the walls of Indian cities as the pre-election fever mounts.

A few examples: Down with Faria, Long Live Faria, Faria is a U.S. Agent, Faria a Disgrace to Indian Womanhood, and The Glorious Faria Who Has Brought Honor to India.

India's fourth general election since independence in 1947 is scheduled for February.

It is not Miss Faria's beauty that Indians are concerned over: just her views on the Vietnamese war.

Her trip to U.S. bases in South Vietnam and Thailand with the Bob Hope troupe entertaining American servicemen during the Christmas holidays has started a major political controversy.

The Indian Communist party wants her to be "punished suitably" for "betraying the New Delhi government's policy of non-alignment and non-involvement in the American imperialist war."

The Communists are planning to make maximum political capital out of what they call Foreign Minister Mohomed Ali Chagla's failure to prevent Miss Faria from going to the United States and from there to South Vietnam.

Blupesh Gupta, Communist member of Parliament, wants the government to impound the queen's passport the moment she returns to India.

The Communists are also planning a big protest demonstration in front of her Bombay home. Meanwhile, Communist-dominated youth and student organizations have been asked to mount an anti-Faria campaign in colleges and schools.

There is speculation whether Miss Faria will choose to return to India as long as the controversy lasts. One report said she has been advised by friends to postpone the home-ward journey until after the election.

Many Indians think that the beauty queen was within her rights to visit South Vietnam. Hundreds of letters have appeared in newspapers supporting her action and condemning the Communist party's hostile propaganda.

The letters also criticize the Indian government for allegedly bringing pressure on Miss Faria not to go to South Vietnam.

Prime Minister Indira Gandhi personally disapproved of the trip.

One commentator says: "If Miss Faria stands for Parliament, she is certain to be elected."

LCBO INCREASES PRICES

TORONTO (CP)—The Liquor Control Board of Ontario Friday announced an increase in the price of beer, liquor and wine to meet a one-percent boost in the manufacturers' sales tax announced recently by the federal government. Liquor now selling for $4.60 will become $4.62 while beer will be increased by one or two cents a dozen and 13 cents on a half-barrel of draught beer effective Jan. 9.

Dear Dr. Molner: Are flu shots effective? A friend tells me they help her, as he never has a cold. I don't believe it. —MRS. E.R.

The vaccine has been thoroughly proved to be effective in preventing influenza but has only limited value in preventing colds, as there are so many kinds of colds, and the majority will not be suppressed by the flu vaccine.

Some "colds" are actually mild flu attacks, and the vaccine prevents these.

NOTE TO P.M. It wouldn't be wise to have a doctor look at that skin discoloration, but I am sure the facts you mentioned are groundless.

"But now in Christ Jesus ye who sometimes were far off are made nigh by the blood of Christ." Ephesians 2:13.

Only the death of Christ made the difference and brought deliverance. "Without the shedding of blood there is no remission of sins."

Personally Speaking

By VEN. D. S. CATCHPOLE, B.A., D.D.

SHALL WE GO?

You may have noted that someone recently foretold that Canada would, before too long, become the Umpteenth State of the U.S.A.; and since no one said anything it was apparent that either people in Canada generally thought the suggestion beneath contempt or they agreed and so saw no reason to comment.

May I be allowed to speak briefly on this matter? Thank you very much.

Shall we go?

Well, if we are going then I think we must realize what we are doing. The first alteration would be the exchange of a beaver for an eagle: the hard and persistent worker for the bird of prey.

After all, the beaver does look rather stupid. It is described as an amphibious rodent. There is nothing striking about it except when it whacks the water with its rear-end paddle. On the other hand, the eagle is severe and pitiless. It is quick to kill and it looks down upon everything beneath it with one idea in such mind as it has: "What is there down there to eat?"

We should also have to make the supreme sacrifice of adopting the Stars and Stripes in place of the hardy-won Maple Leaf Flag. The United States, on the other hand, would have to add yet another star to its already large constellation. Of course, it would probably not bother to do this for quite some time or would simply put a very tiny one in a corner somewhere.

Obviously the Maple Leaf Flag would have to go, but this would be no sacrifice really since it reminds us of nothing more particularly than of two wrangling politicians.

Then, of course, we should have to give up God Save the Queen and take on My Country 'Tis of Thee but this should not be too hard seeing that both are sung to the same tune (sic). The old argument about which version of O Canada is the right one would fall into the discard because we should all be howling America at the tops of our voices.

The Queen would have to go, too, and I doubt if she would or could object. She is being slid into the WPB fairly steadily already by the powers that be and I fancy our Royal Lady has too much pride to ask to be retained by those who don't want her.

In her place, we shall have the inestimable benefit of looking with devotion on "Mr. President," complete with a Texas accent.

Why not after all? Was it not said that F.D.R. was the most popular President of the United States that Canada had ever had, even if the State of Washington could not bear the sound of his name? In reverse, and with the same reaction in Canada, the United States loved William Lyon Mackenzie King.

I feel sure that Quebec would be much happier if we joined the States. The revolting thought of royalty would be gone forever and a common tradition would be found between France, America and Quebec, respectively, as the triumph found in the storming of the Bastille, the Boston Tea Party and the winning of the Stanley Cup by the Habitants of Montreal. Indeed, I dare say that if the present premier of Quebec went hat in hand, L.B.J. might give him a special little star somewhere mystically outlined as a fleur-de-lis and the little man would be delighted. Can't you hear him? "Merci, M. le President! A bas, les Anglais!" (but not in my worst possible French).

Innumerable benefits would immediately result from Canada tacking itself on to the United States. All hockey players would then be very much at home. There would be no need any longer to smuggle stuff across the border, for it would simply not be there. Fancy no exchange! And on our currency, we should become adequately religious for we would adopt the rather strange motto: "In God We Trust"—or has that not been of fashion? It is so long since I was in the United States that you must forgive me if I am a trifle behindhand. Furthermore, divorces will be so much easier to secure. All the wife would have to do would be to burn her next pie and give it to her husband and he would howl "mental cruelty!" and rush off to Reno. This should impel plenty of Canadians to vote for the merger.

Probably one of the greatest benefits would be the elimination of Ottawa and all its iniquities. The prime minister and the Leader of the Opposition would simply become senators or something, and that would be that, and there would be peace at last. All the racket could take place in Washington, D.C. or wherever it is that their legislative body meets and Canada would become a charming back-street in world affairs.

Taxes might even go down, although this is admittedly a forlorn hope, and then too, Wall Street would take over as a matter of course. Thoughts crowd in upon me! We could elect our judges and our magistrates and police chiefs and there would not be even a suggestion of difficulty when gangsters wanted to move north.

Shall we go?

Let's, by all means, if the foregoing attracts you or if you haven't any guts.

TODAY in HISTORY

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Jan. 10, 1967 . . .

The League of Nations held its first meeting at Geneva 47 years ago today—in 1920—after its planning by the Treaty of Versailles. The treaty had not been ratified by the United States and was passively accepted by the defeated powers of the First World War so these countries were not represented. Some of its subcommittees, such as the International Labor Organization, are still flourishing, but it failed in its main task, to prevent another big European war.

1776 — Tom Paine published his manifesto, Common Sense.

1910 — Le Devoir, the French-language newspaper, first appeared at Montreal.

First World War

Fifty years ago today—in 1917—Greece bowed to the terms of the Allied ultimatum to give up her neutrality in the war; British units advanced near Beaumont Hamel in France and encircled Kut-el-Amara, Mesopotamia.

Second World War

Twenty-five years ago today—in 1942—the Japanese approached Kuala Lumpur, the main city of northern Malaya; Japanese troops made their first landing on Dutch territory at Tarakan; Churchill recalled Duff Cooper, his special emissary in the Far East, to London.

CANADA'S STORY

Canada Joined League Of Nations

By BOB BOWMAN

When the First World War ended in November, 1918, the Allied powers and other countries began organizing the League of Nations. Its purpose was to prevent future wars, as is the object of the United Nations today. Canada became a member of the League of Nations on Jan. 10, 1920, but not without a heroic struggle on the part of Sir Robert Borden. It was one of his final achievements before resigning as prime minister.

There was a good deal of opposition to the British dominions having separate seats in the League of Nations. Britain had always done the negotiating for them and other nations believed that Britain would have five votes instead of one, if the dominions were regarded as separate powers. The U.S. led the opposition.

Sir Robert Borden was furious. In a note to British prime minister Lloyd George he said: "It is now proposed that Canada should become party to a treaty by which she shall undertake to engage in active warfare operations against Germany in case that country at any time in the future should be guilty of aggression against France. I am not aware that any similar undertaking is proposed for Spain, Brazil, Greece, or Belgium, or for any of the smaller states whose representatives are not debarred from the Council to the League."

His contention was that the U.S.A. was trying to pack the League of Nations with South American countries which had taken little or no part in the war against Germany, while blocking Canada from membership although Canada had suffered nearly 250,000 casualties in the fighting. Canada was expected to be in the first line of battle but not even have a back seat in the League of Nations.

The "big three" of the negotiators gave in. They were Lloyd George, Woodrow Wilson of the U.S.A. and G. Clemenceau of France. Finally the U.S.A. did not join the League of Nations at all.

OTHER EVENTS ON JANUARY 10:

1815 Britain prohibited citizens of the U.S.A. from settling in Canada.

1817 Lord Selkirk's men recaptured Fort Douglas on the Red River.

1831 King of The Netherlands arbitrated disputes about the boundary between New Brunswick and Maine. The U.S.A. did not accept his decision and Britain rejected it later.

1875 B.C. Legislature sent petition to Queen Victoria re its grievances against Canada.

1910 Henri Bourassa published Le Devoir, Montreal.

Why Go To Expo?

Prince George Citizen

Being slapped in the face is one thing.

Being kicked in the posterior is another.

Quebec, having done the former repeatedly to Canadians over the last couple of years, now has administered the boot in the rear.

The province isn't going to participate in Centennial year celebrations. Yves Gabais, Quebec provincial secretary, says the province will not rejoice over the 100th anniversary of Confederation.

The province will participate only in events which "will allow Quebecers to show themselves as Quebecers."

Then what is Expo all about?

What demented mind in Ottawa agreed to this mammoth Canadian exhibition in Montreal to celebrate the national anniversary?

Why should Canadians from the Yukon to Newfoundland pour millions and millions of dollars onto the separatist doorstep for a project which will benefit Quebec almost exclusively when Quebec wants no part of Canada?

Starry-eyed Expo promoters talk enthusiastically about how every province and community will reap Expo tourist dollars but that, generally speaking, is baloney.

There will be some pass-through business but not much else—apart from motel trade by tourists who are stopping in Ontario because they can't find accommodation near the exhibition.

The project has been imaginatively conceived from the standpoint of design.

But even more imagination has been shown by the promoters who sold the federal government a bill of goods.

Expo might as well have been staged in Russia for all the friendliness and goodwill being shown in Quebec.

AN IMPORTANT EVENT in the Netherlands today is the wedding of Her Royal Highness Princess Margriet and Mr. Pieter van Vollenhoven in St. Jacobskirk, The Hague.

Royal guests attending the wedding include Denmark's Margrethe and her French fiancé, Henri Jean de Laborde, Princess Christina of Sweden, Prince Charles of Luxembourg; Princess Alice of Athlone, and Lady Elizabeth Anson who, like Princess Christina, was a bridesmaid at the wedding of Crown Princess Beatrix. Photo by Max Koot.

Princess Met Bridegroom While Studying At Leyden

H.R.H. Princess Margriet, Francisca of the Netherlands, was united in marriage today to Pieter van Vollenhoven Jr., Prince Bernhard, the third daughter of Princess Juliana and Prince Bernhard, was born in Ottawa on January 19, 1943, during the Second World War while Princess Juliana and her children awaited the liberation of the Netherlands in Canada. She was named after the marguerite, the flower symbol of Dutch resistance, and the Merchant Marine, who were chosen as her sponsors, later adopted the marguerite as their badge.

First setting foot on Dutch soil when she arrived from Canada with her mother and sister in 1945 the Princess later attended New Baarn Primary School, graduated from New Baarn Grammar School, and was confirmed in the Dutch Reformed Church at Soest in 1960. In 1961 she enrolled in the ancient University of Montpellier in France. In '62, together with her sister Irene, she visited the West Indies to learn about Surinam and the Netherlands Antilles, and on her return entered Leyden University where she studied constitutional and international law and sociology, also working as a voluntary nursing auxiliary in Leyden Hospital.

It was during this time that she met her future husband who was studying law at Leyden University, and in March '65 her engagement to Mr. Van Vollenhoven was announced and the young couple were introduced to the people of the Netherlands, Surinam and the Netherlands Antilles, over a live broadcast.

The following day, March 11, the couple accompanied by the Queen and Prince Bernhard paid an official visit to the prime minister and other members of the Council of Ministers and representatives of the Upper and Lower Chambers.

Like her sisters, Princess Margriet fulfills various official engagements and her interest in social work has brought her into contact with many institutions and rehabilitation centres for the handicapped. She has considerable talent for acting, and is also a keen sportswoman particularly enjoying skiing, swimming and riding. She has been awarded the certificate of the Netherlands Red Cross Nursing Auxiliary, First Class, and since Princess Irene's marriage, she is second in succession to the throne.

The States-General's decision for Princess Margriet's marriage was granted in a Kingdom Act on July 21, 1966.

The bridegroom, Pieter van Vollenhoven Jr., was born at Schiedam in 1939. He is the son of Pieter van Vollenhoven and his wife Jacoba, nee De Lange. His father is head of Bingham and Company of Schiedam, who specialize in the manufacture of canvas, sails and tarpaulins, and his elder brother Willem Jan holds a managerial post. Educated at the Rotterdam Montessori Grammar School, Mr. Van Vollenhoven Jr. read Dutch law at the University of Leyden, from '59-65, choosing as his special subjects "The desirability of statutory organizations in trade and industry," and "Police System in the Netherlands." Fond of tennis and hockey, he concentrated on rowing and judo at Leyden, qualifying for the green belt, but his favorite sport is rally driving at which he has had considerable successes among them the first prize in the 1100 c.c. class in the 1964 Scheveningen-Luxembourg-Scheveningen Rally, driving a Volkswagen. He also shares Princess Margriet's love of winter sports and his interests include jazz music. He plays the piano himself.

On June 6, 1965, he was baptized in the Oude Hooglandse Church in Leyden, and confirmed as a member of the Dutch Reformed Church. He was employed as a lawyer with the Council of State, primarily for his personal orientation, until called up for military service with the Royal Dutch Air Force in March, and after attending an officers' training course in Breda was posted to the Air Force Legal Branch in the Hague with the rank of ensign. Since October 1966 Ensign Van Vollenhoven has been stationed in Zeist with the Air Defence Command.

Notice of the forthcoming marriage was registered at the Town Hall of Baarn on December 10, 1966.

St. David's Church Is Scene Of Ray-Anderson Ceremony

St. David's Presbyterian Church was beautifully decorated with baskets of white daisies and holly and tall white tapers, on Dec. 30th, at 7:30 p.m., for the marriage of Cynthia Davis Anderson, youngest daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Walter Anderson and Carl Kenneth Ray, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Ray of Brantford, Ont.

Rev. S. Reid Thompson officiated at the ceremony. Douglas Glover directed the choir and Mrs. Emily Pritchard was the organist. The choir sang the 23rd Psalm to the music of Crimmond as a processional preceding the entrance of the bride party and Jesu Joy of Man's Desiring, during the signing of the register. At the close of the ceremony they sang the Wedding Hymn, O Father All Creating, to the music of Aurelia.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length loosely fitted gown of sculptured Belgian lace, designed and made by herself. She wore a matching Priscilla cap, and carried a spray of blue daisies and ferns. The maid of honor, Miss Sharon Gundrum, and the two attendants, Miss Penny Shaw and Mrs. James Blank, wore identical knee-length dresses similar in style to the bride's, in blue and silver imported sheer, and they carried sprays of blue daisies. Their shoes were silver and their head-dresses were matching wide blue bows.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Cuyler Motor Hotel, where the toast to the bride was proposed by Emil Gundrum and responded to by the groom. The toast to the bridesmaids was given by the best man, Basil Rodomar, and Walley Lightbody acted as master of ceremonies.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Anderson wore a cream and gold brocade dress fashioned on princess lines and the mother of the groom wore a sheath dress of plum-colored velvet. Both wore whimsy hats and corsages of white carnations.

While the bride changed into her going-away costume, a Mrs. Kenneth Ray, Brantford, paddy green wool suit, with black suede accessories, the guests enjoyed dancing to the music of Johnny Garte, and before leaving on her honeymoon to Seattle and Vancouver, the bride made a short speech and presented her bouquet to her mother.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray will make their home in Toronto.

Out of town guests attending the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Ray, Brantford,

Ont.; Mr. and Mrs. Walley Lightbody, North Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. Bryan Finnigan, Winnipeg; Mrs. Robert Kirkpatrick, Edmonton, Alta.; Miss Sharon Gundrum, Alta. Lake; Miss Penny Shaw and Basil Rodomar, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. James Blank, Powell River; Miss Eileen Oleynik, Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. Norman Finnigan, Honey; Premier W. A. AROUND TOWN played over the weekend in Penticton, was won by the Kelowna Secondary School rink skipped by Deanne Harris; third, Marille Hodgkinson; second, Marilyn Rumley and lead, Pat Neuls. Runner-up to the champions was the Dr. Knox Secondary School rink, Trudy Limenok, skip; Barbara Newton, third; Lynn Perry, second and Janice Lafay, lead.

The Interior High School Girls' Curling Championship,

Friends of Dr. Ann Dawe will be interested to hear that she is now residing in Ketchikan, Alaska, where she is the Director of Special Programs for the Gateborough School District, which entails being the reading consultant and supervisor of special education for retarded children as well as the testing and evaluation of the children. Beginning this month she will also teach a graduate course in diagnostic and remedial reading for the University of Alaska through the local Community College.

An interesting visitor to Kelowna on the weekend was Mrs. Donald Draper, a former Vancouverite now living in Toronto. Mrs. Draper is well known in the Okanagan as the square dance caller who MCD's the Square Dance Jamboree at the Penticton Peach Festival in 1962. Since that time she has been seen on the CBC but recently she has branched out in a new capacity and is currently touring Canada interviewing the owners of cosmetic studios. She stayed at the Caravel Inn while visiting Mrs. Eileen Brewster in Kelowna.

Holiday guests at the East Kelowna home of Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Mann were the former's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Darwin Mann and family who have returned to their home at Orange Valley Cabins, Fort Fraser.

The Ladies' Curling Club zone playdowns were held last weekend at the Mountain Shadows, with the rinks skipped by Millie Topham and Barbara Ulmer entering. The winning rink, with Barbara Ulmer, skip; Peggy Ellerman, third; Marlene Mamchur, second and Phyllis Baulkham, lead, won the best-of-three club playdowns and will now advance to the South Okanagan Zone Playdowns in Osoyoos, Jan. 14 and 15.

On Dec. 26, at 2:00 p.m., Father E. Martin of St. Plus Roman Catholic Church, officiated at the christening of Valerie Corinne, chosen daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Heit of R.R. 1, Kelowna. The infant wore the family 50-year-old heirloom christening gown which had been worn by her maternal aunts and cousins before her. Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Lafaye of Sutherland Avenue, were Valerie's godparents. Following the ceremony, a buffet dinner was held at the home of the parents, guests included Mrs. Eva Heit, paternal grandmother; Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Oliver, maternal grandparents; Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Heit and Lisa; Mr. and Mrs. Marlow Hicks and Rodney and Mr. and Mrs. David Lommer and family.

ANN LANDERS

Natural Hair Color Best For Teenagers

Dear Ann Landers: I am a teen-ager who has learned a lot from reading your column. Now I want to repay you by telling of my experience in the hope that somebody will learn from me.

The night before Halloween I decided to shock everybody by showing up at a party with black hair. (I am a natural blonde.) I bought a bottle of black rinse at the drugstore and followed the instructions to the letter. My hair turned blue.

I called a girl friend who had had a lot of experience with dyes and she came right over with a bottle of peroxide lightener. She used a double application. My hair turned green.

The next day I went to the beauty shop, spent three weeks' allowance and now I look like a rabbit. My hair is pink and my ears are blistered. My scalp is a mess.

It will be a year before my head will be back to normal and I am disgusted with myself. Please tell all teen-agers everywhere to leave their hair alone.

—DUMB BUNNY.

Dear Ann Landers: I have written to you at least once a month for the past ten years, but you will not recognize my name or my handwriting.

I've asked for help with problems concerning my sister, my brother, my teachers and my friends. I wrote to you when my father died. I thought I would never get over the heartache. I have asked you questions about sex, money, love and even my diet.

But you can't possibly know about any of my letters because I never mailed them. Yet, you have helped me tremendously. Just writing to you quieted my fears and relieved my frustrations. You can't imagine what it means to know there is someone to lean on—somebody to talk to. I started to write to you when I was 11 years old. I am 21 now and I think it's time I said thank you, Ann Landers—S.C.

Dear S.C.: Your letter makes me wonder how many others are writing to me and tearing up the letters.

No matter what the technique, if I can help I'm happy. Thank you much for mailing THIS one, honey. It brightened my day.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a married woman and have a home of my own, but it is my mother's home I am writing about—for my father's sake.

Mother has gone crazy chasing dirt and fighting odors. Every day she disinfects, fumigates, sterilizes the silverware, scrubs, waxes and polishes.

On Sunday when we go there for dinner my father is a wreck. Mother sprays the house with a sickeningly sweet "air purifier" because she can't stand the odor of cooking. Dad says he likes the smell of turkey and ham and sweet potatoes and coffee and baked bread better than the smell of disinfectant.

Mom's cat and dog are always sick and I'm sure the strong stuff she puts on the floors and the gook she sprays all over has something to do with it. What do you suggest?—HOORAY FOR FOOD.

Dear Hooray: Mom has a germium in her cranium. And I don't want anybody to write and tell me I have a nerve defending dirty housekeepers and implying clean women are nuts.

Anyone who disinfects, sterilizes, fumigates, waxes, scrubs and polishes every day is sick. Your mother's campaign against cooking odors is part of her illness.

Kookie Look Plus Color Is Predicted For Spring

NEW YORK (CP) — The kookie, zany look of some women's fashions will be accentuated this spring by accessories and a color explosion—with yellow predominating — that goes right down to the shoes.

Handbags are smaller. The short and mini-skirt, here for at least another season, give stockings and shoes the limelight.

Teen-agers will find something exciting about the fashions.

Jewelry is flamboyant and umbrellas will literally crash into spring.

Fashion writers from Canada and the United States got a look at spring this week at the previews of the New York Couture Business Council.

This is what they saw: Longer, bulkier and more colorful earrings; big buckles on little-girl, rounded toes and flat heels; jungle prints flitting from costume jewelry to umbrellas.

Stockings adding plain shocking colors—such as vibrant, citrus and fuchsia—to their patterned, textured and even crocheted list.

Glittering stockings by Hanes in taupe and silver are to be worn in the evening with the newest velvet knickers suit.

The popular fold-over handbags are gussied to increase their capacity. Contrary to the trend of accessory blatancy, most are smaller. Short white gloves companion everything from wedding gowns to suits.

A woman sticking to beiges and eggshell colors in stockings and shoes is overly conservative. The complete-costume look requires the dress or suit color to drift down the legs. For daytime there are smashing new colors of lime and orange. For evening, the waffle-texture in the newest fishnet look comes in white, pink, beige, celery, lilac and black.

Teamed with crochet baby dressed these stockings should be the ultimate in teen-age excitement. For the over-teen sophisticates there is added leg allure under spring chiffrons.

YELLOW IS KEY

Yellow is the dominate color in shoes and clothes. In fact, a woman who can wear yellow, especially the daffodil pale shade, can centre her entire wardrobe around it. In shoes it may team with another color as in a suede with pale yellow front and langerine back and popular cutout sides.

Buckles on almost any type of shoes are dramatic. One buckle on a blunt-toe, grape-leather shoe rises five inches in a shell shape. It is edged in burgundy. Brown patent is expected to take the classic place of black and will vie with yellow. For rainy days there are interesting shiny spats-boots. Color combination always include fake side buttoning.

Jewelry ranges from dangling earrings with exuberant action from large two-tone plastic triangles for street wear to eight-inch cascading glitter for evening with triple strands for each ear. There are jungle motifs and racy checkerboard designs. Cotton is used in clear, bold colors.

Advice before adventure:

Your travel agent's knowledge of Europe gives you a head start before departure day

How much to spend, how long to stay, how much to see? Your travel agent knows Europe like the back of his hand.

Restaurants, nightclubs, art treasures, tips, customs... your travel agent dispenses the best of advice. New Europe... old Europe... London by night. Florence by candlelight... cathedrals or discotheques: your travel agent is a globetrotter in his own right.

He knows all the services Air Canada offers to Europe. To Paris, Shannon, Frankfurt, Vienna, Zurich, Copenhagen, Moscow, and with BOAC, to London and Glasgow. Then by connections to dozens of other cities. He knows all about accommodation from the Ritz in London to hostels just outside Rome. And he knows the ins, the outs, the in between of every country over there.

Talk to your travel agent about the Europe you're going to see. You will profit by his help and experience—in so many ways.

Nazis Organize In Montreal Says Noted German Expert

MONTREAL (CP)—Prof. Peter Lust, a Montreal author and columnist, says that pro-Nazi sympathizers in Montreal are in the process of setting up a local branch of West Germany's neo-Nazi National Democratic party.

Prof. Lust, a noted German affairs analyst and author of "The Two Germanys: Mirror of an Age," said Sunday that a "young German immigrant of clearly pro-Nazi sympathies" has been working for the establishment of the party's first branch in Canada and possibly outside West Germany. He did not name the immigrant.

Addressing a meeting of the Humanist Fellowship of Montreal, he said the party chapter would not engage in local politics but would serve as a society for pro-Nazi German expatriates.

Man Robbed, Set Ablaze

NEW YORK (AP)—Four men turned a Brooklyn coffee shop owner into a human torch Sunday after robbing him of $100, police reported.

Joseph Prochilo, 33, rolled on the ground to put out the flames that seared his body and then stumbled a few feet to blocks to Coney Island Hospital where he collapsed.

Physicians listed him in critical condition today but said he is expected to live.

He suffered burns about the face, back and legs after being doused with a flammable liquid and set afire, he told police.

SEES MENACE
While the Nazi movements of George Lincoln Rockwell in the United States and of Joan Beatty in Toronto fall under the "homicidal fringe" headings, a Nazi West Germany's National Democratic party and other movements in Europe and South America present a definite menace.

Prof. Lust criticized a recent invitation extended to Adolf von Thadden, a leading figure in the National Democratic party, by the CBC to appear on Canadian television.

He said von Thadden's visa should be cancelled and that he should be barred from entering Canada.

Von Thadden is scheduled to visit the United States shortly at the invitation of a right-wing group in a large American university, Prof. Lust added.

Vietnam Deaths Mount To 5,000

WASHINGTON (AP)—More than 5,000 Americans were killed in Vietnam during 1966, Pentagon figures showed Thursday. A statistical breakdown placed the total at 5,008 killed the last year, with 30,093 wounded. This brought the number of casualties since Jan. 1, 1961, to 6,664 killed and 37,738 wounded.

Malaysians Flee Killer Floods

KUALA LUMPUR (Reuters)—Two persons were drowned and more than 10,000 others evacuated in north and eastern Malaysia due to monsoon floods. A state of emergency was declared in two northeastern states.

The bidding:
East South West North
Pass 1♥ 5♣ 6♥

Opening lead — six of diamonds.

They say you can't make bricks without straw, but South more or less performed the feat in this deal when he transformed ten winning tricks into 12.

His apparent losers were a spade, a diamond and a club, but, by the use of some sleight of hand, he succeeded in making two of the losers disappear.

At trick one he covered the six of diamonds with the nine and won East's ten with the king. He next drew three rounds of trumps, East showing out on the second round.

Faced with an apparently hopeless proposition, South then credited West with the one distribution that would give him a chance to make the contract. He decided to play West for three hearts (already proven), eight clubs (very likely on the bidding), and two singletons.

Accordingly, he led a spade to the ace and then played the A-8 of clubs. West took the eight with the nine and was forced to return a club, South ruffing in dummy and discarding a diamond from his hand.

South now entered his hand with a spade and cashed the jack of hearts, producing this three-card position:

North
♥ A J
♦ A Q
♠ Q 8

West
♦ Q J 10

South
♥ 7
♦ Q 8
♠ 7

When South then led the eight of hearts and discarded a spade from dummy, East found it impossible to discard successfully. As a result, South made the slam.

The hand is one of the rare examples where declarer first gains a trick by forcing a defender to yield a ruff and discard, and then uses that trick as the stepping-stone to a squeeze.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

FOR TOMORROW
Take quick note of other's moods on Wednesday. Persons born under some Signs will be highly congenial; those born under others will be somewhat on the "touchy" side. It shouldn't take you long to differentiate—and act accordingly. Not a good day in which to hold conferences of business discussions.

FOR THE BIRTHDAY
If tomorrow is your birthday, your horoscope indicates that where business and financial matters are concerned, your outlook for the next year is excellent. In occupational matters, you should make advancement in late April and early May; in September, December and next January.

As to monetary affairs, your best periods for adding to bank deposits will occur next month, during early May, throughout July, in mid-September, mid-October and, also, next January.

Just a few admonitions, however. If presently in any speculative ventures, be out of them by early June. Make no loans late May, and do avoid extravagance between mid-November and mid-December.

Personal relationships will be governed by generous stars during most of the 12 months ahead, with romance emphasized in late June, all of July and late September; travel in July and the first three weeks of September. Social activities should prove stimulating between May and the early part of September; also in December and January. And, if you're careful to avoid friction in domestic circles, you should find home and family interests immensely rewarding.

A child born on this day will be extremely versatile along creative lines but will have to curb tendencies to become unduly materialistic.

TRY AND STOP ME By Bennett Cerf

IN THE LIBRARY of a Franciscan monastery in western Pennsylvania, discloses the Catholic Digest, there stands a large safe. For the convenience of priests who may have forgotten the combination, a set of detailed instructions for opening the safe is posted conspicuously on the door. But don't underestimate the intelligence of the Franciscans. The instructions are entirely in Latin.

"In this town's water pure," demanded a cautious tourist of his innkeeper. "Sure is," nodded the innkeeper. "First we filter it, then we take the iron out of it, then we add numerous chemicals to it and then we drink beer."

Later, the same tourist asked, "Any night life in this God-forsaken hole?" "Gotta admit there ain't," sighed the dejected innkeeper. "She left for Boston last week."

O Canada Choice To Be Studied
OTTAWA (CP) - Three government resolutions dealing with the national anthem, parliamentary procedure and civil service pensions were added to the Commons order paper today.

Prime Minister Pearson proposed creation of a Senate-Commons committee to study proposals that O Canada be declared the national anthem and God Save the Queen the royal anthem.

Ex-Lieutenant Governor Willis Of Manitoba Dies At Age Of 70

WINNIPEG (CP) - One of the most popular lieutenant-governors in Manitoba's history and a veteran politician, Erick French Willis, died Monday. He was 70.

Mr. Willis, born at Bois-Breton, Man. in 1896, was the first native-born Manitoban to be lieutenant-governor. He assumed his duties in 1960 and retired last year.

He suffered head injuries in a fall at his home last month and had three operations to remove blood clots from the base of his neck. He was removed from the critical list two weeks ago and during recent days had been listed in fairly good condition.

Premier Duff Roblin said the death of "one of the best-loved Manitobans" would be mourned by everyone who knew him.

During his five-year term, he visited all the Indian tribes in the province's northern area and, as a devout Anglican, over the family farm - an operation which still produces prize Hereford cattle.

An avid sportsman and enthusiastic curler who led a Canadian team to a gold medal in the 1932 Winter Olympics, he was one of the province's better golfers.

He was a Mason and Shriner and a life member of the Manitoba and Dominion Curling Associations, the Winnipeg Rotary Club and the Winnipeg Men's Musical Club.

Mr. Willis is survived by his wife, the former Louise Trimble of St. Stephen, N.B., who he married in 1941, and three children, Anna Jane, Richard and Erick Jr.

Funeral arrangements were pending.

Anniversary Of Tashkent Marked Quietly In India

NEW DELHI (AP) - India observed the first anniversary of the Tashkent Declaration quietly today, concentrating on more pressing internal problems.

Pakistan generally ignored the anniversary, but President Mohammed Ayub Khan in a message to Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin said India is blocking the path to peaceful settlement of the Kashmir dispute which plunged the sub-continent into war in September, 1965.

"It is a matter of disappointment to us as it must be to you that the promise offered by the Tashkent Declaration has not been fully realized," he said.

In the 12 months since Ayub Khan and India's late prime minister Lal Bahadur Shastri signed the declaration in the Soviet city of Tashkent, there has been little lessening of tension between India and Pakistan.

Nothing helps sell carpets like daily newspaper advertising. And for impact, nothing beats full color pre-prints.

That's the experience of Toronto Carpet Manufacturing Co. Ltd., makers of Barrymore Carpets. Last September and October, they ran a newspaper campaign that was a "first" in the carpet industry. The campaign utilized pre-print Hi-Fi ads, full page advertisements in full color. These ads ran in 32 newspapers in 30 Canadian markets and included tie-in copy from local carpet retailers. Did it work? And how it worked!

Sales exceeded all expectations. In a number of markets, fast sell-outs resulted in out-of-stock situations. And, of course, nothing indicates the success of an ad like sales.

Another good barometer of the effectiveness of the Toronto Carpet ad was Starch research studies conducted in three metropolitan centres. They showed "noted" scores for women as high as 92%, for men as high as 83%.

Toronto Carpet Manufacturing has found daily newspapers a superb advertising vehicle for many reasons. They've discovered that newspapers allow a very definitive selection of markets; that advertising can be focused precisely where prospective buyers are found; and that newspapers permit effective tie-in with local merchants, putting the advertising on a local level right where the buyers live. And the advent of Hi-Fi pre-prints, which reproduce color with high realism, makes it possible to present that highly saleable feature for carpets and so many other goods: color.

For selling carpets, or almost anything else, there's nothing like daily newspaper advertising. And there's nothing like it when you're buying too. Daily newspaper ads let you shop right at home, find out what's offered and where before you ever leave the house. Small wonder that both you and the advertisers show such a growing interest in daily newspaper advertising.

WINFIELD. — The Okanagan may have a chance this year, to adopt the University of British Columbia rowing team. The lake is considering Kalamalka Lake as the training centre for the world's top rowing American Games. The Pan American Games will be held in Winnipeg this summer. The training program will start in May.

One of the world's top rowing teams, British Empire Games gold medalists and world Olympic silver medalists, the UBC crew have been using Vancouver's Coal Harbor for training.

The competition offered by tugs, log booms and deadheads has become almost too tight a program for the top of the team, says Wayne Pretty, head coach.

SEATTLE (AP)—Larry Lund scored two goals to lead Seattle Totems to a 3-1 victory over Los Angeles Blades in the only Western Hockey League game Monday night.

Lund opened the scoring near the end of the first period and replied to the lone Los Angeles goal from Bob Schmautz in the second period.

Howie Hughes got the insurance goal for Seattle with less than two minutes left in the game.

The victory moved Seattle into second place in league standings, one point ahead of Vancouver and California which are tied for third with 38 points.

Los Angeles moved up to fourth place from fifth.

The 2,904 fans saw only six penalties called in the game.

Los Angeles goalie Dave Kelly stopped 38 shots while Seattle's Jim McLeod turned aside 26.

DETROIT (AP)—Joe Schmidt, a hard-charger in his linebacker days, was approaching caution today in signing a contract that would make him head coach of the National Football League's Detroit Lions.

Schmidt met with Lion officials for nearly six hours Monday, then said he had not yet made up his mind.

Lion owner William Clay Ford fired coach Harry Gilmer last week and announced he had selected Schmidt for 13 years a Lion linebacker, was his top choice for the job.

Schmidt, who retired after the 1965 season, was an assistant to Gilmer last season, working with the linebackers.

"There is no argument or disagreement," Schmidt said, 34, said after Monday's meeting. "I want to do it over a bit more. It's a big job."

He's scheduled to meet with Ford again Wednesday.

Injured Knee Feeling Fine

NEW YORK (CP) — Frank Robinson, the American League's most valuable player of 1966, says his injured right knee is coming along faster than anyone thought it would.

Robinson injured the knee last June, but went on to hit .311 with 49 home runs and 172 unassisted hits in the league's all three categories.

An operation Nov. 22 repaired the knee ligament and removed a bone chip, and Robinson can at a luncheon Monday say his knee

LOS ANGELES (CP)—They took the veil off the Super Bowl trophy Monday, while Green Bay Packers threw up a shroud of secrecy and Kansas City Chiefs did some screaming of their own.

The National Football League and Football League of America met Monday to hand out the trophy to the first Super Bowl winner, with the winner getting a 20-inch sterling silver trophy as well as $15,000 a man.

The trophy will be presented by NFL commissioner Pete Rozelle after the game to the winning team for its permanent practice session Monday at Lombardi told reporters afterwards that he's not taking Chiefs lightly.

"I'm not impressed with the odds on the game," he said.

"I do not think the $15,000 will be a major factor in the play doing well. I think they will be playing for their league and themselves.

"Kansas City has good speed and they certainly have good athletes. That's what I think I can go by. All their defensive backs impressed me. The Packers will arrive here Friday.

The game will be played in Memorial Coliseum.

Meanwhile, in Santa Barbara where the Packers are holding daily workouts, coach Vince Lombardi said a tarpaulin will be put up at the end of the practice field.

VANCOUVER (CP) — Willie Fleming, the B.C. Lions spectacular halfback, said Monday night he has retired from professional football.

Fleming, who gained Canadian Football League fame for his dazzling running, said his decision came amid a deal with the Minnesota Vikings.

"I made my decision over the weekend," the 27-year-old Fleming said in an interview.

Fleming was drafted by the Skrien in Vancouver and Jim Finks in Minneapolis.

"I'm definitely through with football," Fleming said.

Fleming, an eight-year veteran with the Lions, had been offered a $33,000 contract to go with the National Football League Vikings in exchange for their halfback Jim Young.

Asked why he was retiring, Fleming said:

"I just felt tired. After all I've been playing pro ball for eight years, ever since I was 16. I just felt that I wanted to get out now and devote my time to my clothing store business and my family."

STARTED IN 1958
Willie left Iowa University after his sophomore year to join the Lions under coach Wayne Robinson in 1958 and became an instant CFL star.

In subsequent years, his explosive running bursts broke CFL records and made him a Canadian all-star in 1963 and Western Conference all-star in 1961 and 1963.

His 9.7-yard rushing average in 1963, when he gained 1,233 yards and scored 12 touchdowns was a record.

A 109-yard touchdown burst from scrimmage against Edmonton in 1964 was also a record.

Fleming's last two years were plagued by minor injuries and he was switched to flanker from his halfback position.

At season end, the Lions served defensive player Dick Fouts as a Bill Symons to Toronto in the first move of the pending Minnesota deal.

Toronto gave up its rights to Jim Young, who was to come to the Lions in a trade for Fleming.

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Cassius Clay was due back in Houston today to start training for his Feb. 6 fight with Ernie Terrell in the Astrodome for his world's heavyweight championship.

Angelo Dundee, Clay's trainer, arrived Monday and denied Clay was out of shape.

"His idea of living it up after a fight is having a double ice cream cone," the trainer said.
